There will be a new restaurant in Humboldt by the end of the year.

Martin Blair of the Quill Centre, the development that includes Canadian Tire and Sobeys located on the west side of Humboldt, announced on January 29 that Boston Pizza will soon become part of the Quill Centre.

"This is part of our project for this year — we're excited about it," said Blair. "We will start construction on this thing pretty early in the spring, I would think. Probably the site work and part of the services will be started by March or April."

He explained the landscaping and curbing for the restaurant area is already in place and they are hoping to have the building finished and the restaurant opened by late fall.
